

What is A.R.T.?

"Well, y'know, I can't define it, but I know it when I hear it..."

-- Larry Keating, fictional character

American Radio Theater is a non-profit, all volunteer group devoted to honor the legacy of classic radio by re-creating lost broadcasts of old radio shows as well as producing new original plays.

Founded in 2005, A.R.T. produces shows both here in Seattle and in Lexington, Kentucky, with our sister group, Wayback Radio Theater (wayback.net). We have members and affiliates in California, Chicago, and England.

If you're interested in finding out more about A.R.T., feel free to talk to one of us after the show.

A Special Thank You

We always enjoy the magic of audio drama, but performing before an audience is a special treat for us. We truly appreciate your adding your laughter and applause to our productions.

Copying scripts, renting performance spaces and recording studios, even printing this program – all cost money. Please feel free to visit our web page and make generous use of our Donate button!

Thanks for your support.

American Radio Theater
americanradiotheater@gmail.com
www.americanradiotheater.org

American Radio Theater's Radio Studio 2017

September 17 & 18, 2016
Pioneer Hall, 1642 43rd Ave E., Seattle

A.R.T. Radio Studio 2017

Our Guest Artists .....	1
Saturday's Program .....	2
Sunday's Program .....	5
More about A.R.T. ....	6

Collect Autographs Here!

Grandma's Lye Soap

Plain and Simple

No frills, no wrapper, no suds,
Try a bar today!

Cleans anything
and it works great on naughty mouths, too!

The secret's in the scrubbin'

Sunday's Shows

Whispering Streets: Silver Anniversary

Harriet and Albert are celebrating their 25th Anniversary – but Harriet wants a divorce. Whispering Streets ran from 1952 to 1960 and featured stars such as Bette Davis. This episode, Silver Anniversary, was originally aired May 9, 1958

Vic and Sade: Stembottom's Invitation to Drive 35 Miles to a Double Feature

Original Cast

Vic, his wife Sade, and their adopted son, Rush, lived "the small house halfway up in the next block." Their crazy misadventures filled the airwaves from 1932 to 1944. Today's show was originally broadcast in 1939.

The Magnificent Montague: Aunt Agatha

Edwin Montague, an out-of-work Shakespearean actor, must get an acting job on -shudder - radio! This popular comedy ran from 1950 through 1951 and starred Monty Woolley in the title role.

Our Guest Artists

We wish to thank our special guest stars for bringing their talents and gracious selves to ART's annual Studio event.

Ivan Cury

Ivan boasts a long career as an actor, director, author, and professor. A master of character voices, he brings his professionalism, humor, and harmonica from sunny California to attend Radio Studio. His warm presence and insightful notes boost the performances of us mere amateurs.

Beverly Washburn

Beverly Washburn is a favorite guest at A.R.T who brings with her a depth of talent and experience from film and television. Beverly is remembered for roles in movies such as Old Yeller, and a number of TV shows such as Star Trek, Hawaii Five-O, and Streets of San Francisco. Always gracious, Beverly is a favorite guest in Seattle.

Saturday's Shows

Sam Spade: The Waltzin' Matilda Caper

Dashiell Hammet's forever popular tough-guy detective solves a caper involving a beautiful woman, murder, and a million dollars wrapped in lead foil. This episode was originally broadcast on March 6, 1949 and starred Howard Duff.

Overdue, & Bookworms

American Radio Theater is delighted to produce two original plays by local writer and librarian, Jay Fuller. To many, libraries are already an alternate dimension – and Jay takes it just a little bit further...

Romance: Theatricals at Medicine Hat

Offering listeners "All the great stories of all time," this anthology featured top Hollywood stars and ran from 1943 to 1957. Today's big question: Why's Uncle Dan wearing a fancy cape? This episode originally aired October 21, 1956.

Ionized Radio Flakes

For all the extra energy you need to start the day and charge on to lunch!
Delicious Hot or Cold!

Ask for it by name: Ionized Radio Flakes!

A Proud Sponsor of American Radio Theater.